

Hā'uke'uke

Aloha! My name is Ho'opili, and I am a helmet urchin. I live in the impact zone, where the ocean waves crash upon the shore. I cling tightly to rocks so I am not washed into the ocean. I have little plates that form my dome. These plates protect me from the pounding surf and predators.

